

Yelp Relief Effort

Nationally, Yelp CEO, Jeremy Stoppelman announced over 25M in relief for independent nightlife and restaurant businesses, as well as additional new features to support the community: <https://bit.ly/yelprelief>

In addition, we've published a blog post explaining how locals can support their communities while social distancing: <http://bit.ly/waystosupportlocal>. We're continuing to explore ways that we can support local businesses at this time.

Recommended action items for businesses on Yelp:

- Updating your Yelp page: changes in hours, temporary closures, and take-out/delivery options
- Setting up Call to Action, Business Highlights, and Yelp Connect

Please note businesses must be logged into their free Yelp for Business Owners account to make updates and view the available options available.

We'll also be rolling out new product features to support local businesses.

Locally, I've put together these collections to help guide locals to support local businesses via takeout and delivery. (We're continually updating them as we go.)

Local Delivery & Takeout - Tucson area

Wellness: Fitness Studios + Gyms Going Online

Businesses Offering Virtual/Online Workshops and Shopping

A collection is a group of saved business pages that people can easily create, share (via text, email and more) and follow using Yelp!*

Please note you'll need to be logged in to your Yelp user account to use the Collection feature.

Please let me know if there is anything else that I can provide you with during this time. Or other ways in which I can help support the chamber.

Business owners can reach me with any questions or updates regarding their businesses via bella@yelp.com.
